Report of Our Delegates to the Convention of the American Federation of Labor

Your delegates to the Thirty-third Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor, which was held at Seattle, Wash., November 10th to 22d, inclusive, beg leave to submit the following report:

The convention, in our opinion, was one of the greatest conventions in the history of the American Federation of Labor. There were 325 delegates in attendance, representing eighty International Unions, nineteen State Federations, fifty-eight Central Labor Unions, twenty Trade and Federal Labor Unions, six Fraternal Organizations, making a grand total of 183 organizations represented, with a voting strength of 19,459 votes.

The report of President Gompers was printed in conjunction with the reports of the Executive Council, the Secretary and the Treasurer, and distributed to all delegates. They are too voluminous to place in this report.

The total membership of the American Federation of Labor September 30, 1912, was 2,054,526 members, which represents 111 International Unions, 42 State Federations, 621 City Central Bodies and 20,046 Local Unions.

The progress of the Federation during the past year exceeded expectations, during which time it passed the two million mark, and has adopted for its slogan the three million mark.

There were many resolutions introduced on various questions, among them Resolution No. 113, which was introduced by Delegates George P. Listman, of the Washington State Federation of Labor, and T. H. Bolton, of the Central Labor Union of Seattle and vicinity.

"Resolution No. 113—By Delegates Geo. P. Listman, of the Washington State Federation of Labor, and T. H. Bolton, of the Central Labor Council of Seattle and vicinity.

"Whereas, The controversy existing in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is detrimental to the entire labor movement; and

"Whereas, The recognition of the so-called McNulty faction by the American Federation of Labor, to the exclusion of the so-called Reid faction, has failed to settle in any way this controversy, and has, on the contrary, caused bitterness, dissension and division in the ranks of the state and city central bodies through the attempts to exclude the Reid and seat the McNulty faction; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That as soon after adjournment of the Seattle convention of the American Federation of Labor as may be possible, and within six months, a joint convention of the two factions of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers shall be held for the purpose of adopting a constitution and electing officers to carry on the work of the united organization; and

"Resolved, That all arrangements for said convention shall be made by a joint meeting of the general executive boards of the two factions and the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor."

The resolution was referred to the committee on Executive Council's report, which committee made the following report thereon:

"Chairman McCullough: In view of the fact that the American Federation of Labor is on record as recognizing the affiliated Union of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as the only bona fide union of electrical workers in existence, to recommend to this organization or its officers to hold a joint convention with any other body claiming, or pretending to claim, that they are an international union, is beyond the power of the American Federation of Labor. Your committee therefore recommends that the resolution be non-concurred in, and by this action reaffirms the action of the convention of the American Federation of Labor held in Rochester, N. Y., November, 1912, a report of which action can be found on page 343 of the proceedings of the Rochester Convention.

The report of the committee was adopted.

Strange as it may seem, neither of the introducers of the resolution said one word on the convention floor in defense of it, nor did any delegate voice his sentiment in favor of it when it came up for discussion.

The report of the committee was adopted by an overwhelming majority, two voices responding when the nays were called for.

It might be well at this time to state that the Executive Council of the Federation and the President in their respective reports, did not refer to the Electrical Workers' controversy, thereby considering it as far as the Federation of Labor was concerned, a closed incident.

Our Brotherhood was also interested in Resolution No. 55, which was introduced by Delegate Paul Scharrenberg, of the San Francisco Labor Council, Resolution No. 57, introduced by Delegate Patrick Flynn, of the California State Federation of Labor, and Resolution No. 75, by Delegates Patrick Flynn and Paul Scharrenberg, of the California State Federation and the Central Labor Council.

These resolutions were bearing on the so-called Light and Power Council trouble with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. They were referred to the committee on resolutions and were considered jointly by that committee, which made the following report:

"Secretary Frey: We, your committee, after an exhaustive hearing, find that the occurrence referred to in the resolutions had their inception in the recognition which was given to a dual and seceding organization. We cannot help but deplore the incidents which have arisen in connection with the situation referred to, and we desire to call attention to the fact that they would not have arisen had there been that strict observation of trades union discipline by local, central and national organizations which is essential to the welfare of our movement.

"We recommend that the resolutions be non-concurred in, and that this convention endorse the action of the Executive Council upon the subject matter contained in the resolution, which is substantially as follows:

"In notifying the Gas Workers'

Unions directly affiliated that the American Federation of Labor requires local unions to comply with all provisions of working agreements entered into by them; and that the Gas Workers' Unions are not to support the seceding Electrical Workers or seceding members of any affiliated organization. Also, in notifying the San Francisco Labor Council and the executive officers of all national or international unions interested, to withhold any and all support from the seceding Electrical Workers who were attempting to control work that properly came under the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

"We further recommend that President Gompers visit San Francisco upon the close of this convention, with such other members of the Executive Council as may be able to accompany him, for the purpose of urging and encouraging unity of purpose on the part of those directly involved in the present difficulty, so that the local unions of affiliated organizations may be duly recognized and protected. Also that additional efforts be made by all interested organizations to secure the affiliation of the seceding Electrical Workers in San Francisco to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

A motion was made and seconded, to adopt the report of the committee.

Delegate Wharton, of the International Association of Machinists, offered the following substitute for the report of the committee:

"That the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, be requested to withdraw all members who have taken the places of the men involved in the strike inaugurated by the Light and Power Council of California against the Pacific Gas and Electric Company; and that the president and such members of the Executive Council as are in a position to do so, visit San Francisco, as soon as possible after the adjournment of this convention, for the purpose of making a thorough investigation of all facts in connection with the controversy, and that every effort be made to bring within the folds of the affiliated organization of Electrical Workers all members of the seceding faction.

"While severely condemning any man or men who by action or deed aid or assist in any movement which has for its object a division in the ranks of the bona fide trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, we nevertheless believe that there can be no jurisdiction of an act which consists in effect, of furnishing strike-breakers to take the places of organized or unorganized workmen, when such workmen are engaged in a strike inaugurated as a means either to maintain or improve the condition of the men involved.

"The convention requests the president and Executive Council to use their good offices in an effort to bring about a satisfactory adjustment of the strike, believing that in so doing the American Federation of Labor will be performing an act that will redound to the credit of all concerned, and possibly be the means of uniting the Electrical Workers."

After a general discussion, the substitute for the committee's report was defeated by a vote of 1,277 to 5,504, and the report of the committee was then adopted by a viva voce vote. The following is the result of the roll call vote:

"Roll call on substitute offered for report of Committee on Resolutions Nos. 55, 57 and 75:

The chairman stated that the motion to adopt the substitute was lost.

The motion to adopt the report of the committee was carried on a viva voce vote.

At 1 o'clock the convention was adjourned, to convene at 2:30 p. m. of the same day.

It might be well to mention the fact that for six months previous to the convention convening, the country was flooded with circular letters containing resolutions which were sent out by a local committee from Seattle, Wash., which was appointed by the Central Labor Union of that city.

The seceders made great capital out of this, and it was common news among them that the Seattle Convention of the American Federation of Labor was going to recognize them and call a special joint convention.

The action on Resolution No. 113 speaks for itself and needs no comment on the part of your delegates, nor is there any comment necessary on our part relative to the action taken on Resolutions No. 55, 57 and 75, as the action of the convention was clear-cut and decisive thereon.

The Pacific District Council arranged to hold a convention in Seattle at the same time the American Federation of Labor was in session.

This was done for the purpose of trying to arouse sentiment in favor of the seceders. In fact, one of the vice presidents of the seceders boasted he was going to lead a delegation of three or four hundred men to the American Federation of Labor and demand recognition. Of course we do not know what their subterfuge is going to be to hold what is left of their members from joining forces with our Brotherhood, but this we can say positively: As far as the American Federation of Labor is concerned, the seceders cannot hope for any recognition whatsoever therefrom.

Many questions of great moment to the American Labor Movement was considered and acted upon.

For the first time in the history of the American Federation of Labor a member of the President's Cabinet addressed one of its conventions, and did himself proud. The fact of his arriving to such an honored position as Secretary of Labor did not change him, as we found him to be the same Bill Wilson that he was when at the conventions representing the United Mine Workers.

Every delegate in the convention felt proud of him, and they had reasons to be, for he did not hesitate to speak his mind on the questions he dwelt on, without reservation.

There were many others who addressed the convention on several various questions, and when time for adjournment arrived, there was a feeling of general satisfaction that the work of the convention was done well, and the opinion prevailed that the Thirty-third Convention of the American Federation of Labor was the most successful one in the history of that institution.

Respectfully submitted,

Report of Delegates to the Seventh Annual Convention of the Building Trades Department, A. F. of L.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Building Trades Department convened on November 24th, and closed on November 29th, at Seattle, Wash.

The many questions of great interest to the Building Trades of our country was discussed and decided.

While our organization was interested more or less on all questions decided by the convention, there was nothing brought up there of direct interest to our Brotherhood.

The most radical change made by the convention was a change in the make-up of its Executive Council. Heretofore the Executive Council consisted of five members. The resolution was introduced enlarging the Executive Council, so that every organization affiliated with the Department would have a representative thereon.

Your delegates voted for this amendment, and did whatever they could to have it adopted, as they felt that an Executive Council where each affiliated trade was represented would leave more general satisfaction behind their every act than an Executive Council of five members could hope to do, as no question can be decided unless the trade directly interested can have their say through their representative on the Executive Council.

We believe this change will tend to bring about greater harmony, and greater interest will be manifested by the affiliated organizations in the Department on account of the change.

Many jurisdiction questions were up for consideration and decided together.

Space will not permit our reporting on them, but any member that is interested in the actions of the Building Trades Department during their convention can get a copy of the proceedings thereof by writing to W. J. Spencer, Ouray Bldg., Washington, D. C.

President Short and Secretary Spencer and the Executive Council made their annual report, which are printed in full in the proceedings of the department.

One question of direct interest to our Brotherhood was brought before the convention by President Short, wherein he held that the Brotherhood should pay per capita on all of its members. Heretofore our Brotherhood has not done this and the convention decided we must do so in the future.

While there were many delegates disappointed at some time or other on actions taken thereby on questions which they were directly interested in, we believe that the convention as a whole was a successful one and its actions will prove beneficial to the Building Trades artisans of our country as a whole.

Brother Thos. J. Williams, of the Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers and Helpers' International Union, was elected General President. Wm. J. Spencer was again elected Secretary.

The next convention of the Federation and the Department will be held in Philadelphia, Pa.

We have endeavored to make our reports as concise as possible, realizing that if we undertook to report in detail every action of the convention, it would take several issues of The Electrical Worker.

Respectfully submitted,

Harvey W. Raven,
Paul McNally,
M. J. Boyle,
F. J. McNulty.

POEMS WORTH READING

THE CHILDREN.

I'm very fond of roses, and I'm very fond of trees,
And I know that there is gladness in
the humming of the bees,
And the wondrous works of nature that abound on every hand
Have a lot of comfort in them for the souls that understand;
But beyond a doubt or question, few of us would ever smile
If there were no little children—they make everything worth while.
It's the babies, pink and rosy, with their chubby little arms
Stretching out to weary fathers, that make up for life's alarms;
It's the smiling, bright-eyed toddlers with their trusting faith in men
That give fathers who have fallen strength to rise and try again,
It's the little ones—God bless them—
that give joy to every mile
That we tramp along the highway and make our care worth while.
We could stand a world that never heard the sound of humming bees.
Men have laughed out in the desert
where there are no shading trees,
And a world forlorn of roses men could bravely wander through,
But a world without the children would be desolate and blue,
And no man would care to struggle if there were no baby's smile Waiting somewhere to repay him and
make everything worth while.

THE LEGIONS OF LABOR ARE MARCHING TODAY.

From the Lakes to the Gulf, and sea to sea,
In the land and home of the brave and free,
And wher'er America's power holds sway,
Legions of labor are marching to-day;
Marching as they work, ever side by side,
With knowledge of strength and feeling of pride;
The tramp of their feet makes a mighty sound
That echoes this message the world around:
In union the strength of the nation lies,
In union the hopes of the toilers rise;
The one exists for freedom and the home,
The other lives for brotherhood alone;
The victories of war that made the one
Are no more renowned or more nobly done
Than the victories of peace won to-day
For right, liberty and justice alway.
Great empires rise and fall, men come and go—
'Twas ever thus and ever will be so—
Yet the great principle that binds them all
Lives and grows stronger after each great fall.
The brotherhood of man shall never die,
For the hopes of all in brotherhood lie;
In "Union of States" it is typified,
In "Union of Labor" exemplified.

OUR EFFORTS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

For the information of our membership we are publishing the understanding reached with the representatives of the Pacific District Council of the seceding electrical workers.

The proposition is to be submitted to their membership for referendum action, our International Executive Board and International President having been empowered to deal with the subject by our convention. As soon as we receive the results our membership will be immediately notified.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 5, 1913.

To Whom it May Concern:

The Seattle convention of the American Federation of Labor, held November 10 to 22, 1913, directed President Samuel Gompers and such other members of the Executive Council as were able to accompany him, to proceed to San Francisco, California, for the purpose of urging and encouraging unity on the part of those directly involved in the present situation among the Electrical Workers and all other organizations involved in any differences between them and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and for the further purpose of restoring unity and harmony among the organized wage-earners of the Pacific Coast, and to such other sections of America as might be possible.

In accordance with these directions of the Seattle American Federation of Labor convention, the following members of the Executive Council convened at the Central Labor Council Hall, San Francisco, at 10 o'clock, Friday morning, November 28, 1913: Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, Jos. Valentine, D. A. Hayes and John B. Lennon.

On the controversy now existent within the ranks of Organized Electrical Workers in the United States and Canada the undersigned committee was arranged for and after long and detailed argument and investigation, we, the committee, recommend as follows:

First. That all Local Unions of the unaffiliated Brotherhood of Electrical Workers now constituting said Brotherhood, as Local Unions, do join and become affiliated with the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said affiliation to commence with payment of February, 1914, per capita tax and the terms of affiliation to be as hereinafter provided for, it being understood and agreed said terms expire March 31, 1914.

Second. That all Local Unions of the unaffiliated Brotherhood join and become a part of the affiliated I. B. E. W. by payment of the current month per capita tax as per Section 1, with the understanding that these Local Unions shall be required to pay the semi-annual death benefit assessment (50 cents) per Sec. 1, of Art. XII, of the affiliated I. B. E. W. Constitution.

Third. That the members of all, now unaffiliated Local Unions so joining and becoming part of the affiliated I. B. E. W., shall be placed in good standing in the affiliated I. B. E. W. and will be entitled to the benefits of such good standing equal with and to the present members of the affiliated I. B. E. W., except the death benefit provided by the

MEXICO'S SECESSIONIST AND OURS.

Huerta, in Mexico, became drunk with the lust for power and by what he considered the brilliant stroke took over the reins of government. By his play of feigned patriotism he brought a number of fellows to his standard, patted himself on the back and no doubt said to his mirror: "You're some bright boy, old top. Napoleon had nothing on you!"

He did not consider the means used or that the immutable laws of all ages are that Like Begets Like. That they who Love and Live by the Sword shall Perish by the Sword. That they who play with Pitch shall be defiled thereby.

His government, founded on Personal Ambition and achieved by Plot and Assassination, is even now Reaping as it has Sown. The powers of the world will refuse to recognize a government that came into being by the assassination route and without such recognition it will soon crumble and fall. It will be surprising if the government born by the assassin's gun and dagger does not end in the same manner.

Our Secession was conceived in iniquity, fathered by the Personal Ambitions of a few Politicians in our ranks. Its birth made possible by the wholesale assassination of the character of all the officers who stood by the Laws of the Brotherhood, fed in its infancy on pure slander and stimulated whenever weakening by Rank Scabbery. Twice the lives of our members have been taken by the Secession followers and bloodshed has, in general, been the harvest from the seeds of Secession.

A movement, made as it was, out of slander, deceit, scabbery and trickery, could bring only a harvest of woe and misery and, like the Mexican debauch, will soon be a matter of history only. 'Tis an old saying that "You cannot make a silk purse from a sow's ear," and the Secession movement is doomed to die as it was born and has lived, in trickery and deceit.

When the tricksters can no longer hoodwink the honest Trade Unionist they must perforce practice their trickery and deceit on each other and in their true fishwife fashion will take off the lid of their political brewing pot and the smell from it will be their complete undoing.

Like the Powers in the case of Mexico, the Real Labor Movement refused to recognize a movement brought into being by such abominable methods. They denied their support to the unscrupulous wreckers. And there being no place in the honest Trade Union Movement for this hybrid offspring of slander and trickery, it must fade back into oblivion from which it sprang.

Ye cannot sow tares and reap therefrom a harvest of good grain.

Another year has come and gone; we have had our share of the joys and sorrows that come and go to all of us. We have no particular kick coming against anyone or anything. We try to meet life as it comes to us, striving at all times to do our best and avoid making mistakes, but no matter how hard we try to avoid making them, we make mistakes just the same, which is only natural, for after all is said and done, the fellow that makes mistakes is appreciated by his fellowmen if he is big enough to admit them, for it cannot be contradicted that those who make mistakes are those who are continually trying to accomplish things.

If we all scrutinize our history for the past year carefully we will find that wherever and whenever we tried to do things of importance we were confronted by obstacles that caused us uneasiness and sometimes worry. We will also find that when we undertook to overcome those obstacles with the proper spirit of determination we were successful and when we tried to overcome them with a feeling of half-heartedness, we failed. Such experiences should be a valuable asset to us in the future and when we undertake to do things during the coming year we should be guided by the mistakes we made in our efforts during the past year.

If it is necessary for us to do something that will be beneficial to our organization and thereby to ourselves we should not become discouraged at what, on the surface, may look impossible. We should lay our plans along practical lines; be guided by the experiences of the past, and go at it determined to overcome the obstacles confronting us regardless of the amount of effort and energy required. If we do so we are bound to be successful. Should we find we have made a mistake, we should not spend any time grieving over it, but go on our path more determined than ever to accomplish the desired ends. If our motives are good and right, and we are sincere and determined in our efforts, obstacles that at first seemed insurmountable will prove easy to overcome.

We should all try to accomplish greater things during the year of 1914 than we did during the past year. No matter how important or unimportant they may seem we should do them right, for anything that is worth doing, is worth doing well.

We are sorry The December Worker has been delayed. The delay is caused by the fact that we were attending the Convention of the American Federation of Labor and Building Trades Department thereof, after which circumstances necessitated our going to San Francisco, Cal., where we were delayed unexpectedly on account of matters of great importance to our Brotherhood. Our amended Constitution has been approved by the referendum vote of our Brotherhood. Section four of Article twenty-one provides that all members shall subscribe for the Electrical Worker. Subscription price being 25 cents. All members should comply with this law immediately. Members can subscribe directly to the International Secretary or through their local secretary. Now that all members will be regular readers of the Electrical Worker we trust that the press secretaries will be influenced thereby to send in monthly a letter for publication.

Our new laws provide that 40 cents per capita tax per month per member shall be sent by each Local Union to the I. O.. The sum of 40 cents shall be held in the treasury as a standing appropriation and shall require no vote to be sent to the I. S. The 40 cents is divided as follows: Twenty-five cents is placed in the General Fund, 5 cents in the Death Benefit Fund, 5 cents in the Defense Fund and 5 cents in the Convention Fund.

All Local Unions should be careful and send the 40 cents per capita tax beginning with January and should they make a mistake and send but 30 cents, the International Secretary will not be able to enter same on the books for the above reason, so it behooves all members to see to it that this new law is complied with. Beginning with the new year all members should pay their dues regularly and promptly. There is nothing to prevent members from paying their dues in advance. When he does so the Financial Secretary must send in per capita tax for each month the member pays dues. This is a good method to follow. It guards us against arrearages.

THE END IN SIGHT.

Final Ruling on Electrical Workers' Case in the Courts of Ohio Due Soon.

---

It is with the greatest of pleasure that we announce to our membership that the end of the long legal battle that resulted from the action taken by the secession leaders in tying up the Brotherhood's funds in Cleveland, Ohio, in August, 1908, is now assured at an early date.

It has been a long and tedious proceeding as the law, "like mills of the Gods" grind slowly.

Through our attorneys we have forced the fighting whenever possible and it is a note worthy fact that our claims for quick action was given recognition by the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio.

The promise made by our attorney, Mr. Wilkins, to our Convention in September is fulfilled. He promised at that time to do everything possible to get our case put on the preferred and announced list. He went after it immediately with the result that our case was advanced otherwise it would have been nearly another year before we could get action.

Now the secession leaders and their backers have reached the end of their rope, the legal rope at least. The date for hearing by State Supreme Court of Ohio is set for February 4. The notice of date from our attorneys is short and sweet.

It carries with it no details of the strenuous efforts put forth to make it a fact.

Following is facsimile of letter received from attorneys notifying us of date of hearing:

Cleveland, December 11, 1913.

Mr. F. J. McNulty, President,
The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers,
Pierik Building,
Springfield, Ill.

My Dear Mr. McNulty:

We have just been informed by the Clerk of the Supreme Court that the Geib case has been assigned for hearing February 4, 1914.

Very truly yours,

W. D. WILKIN.

We were successful once more in defeating the Seceders, or rather those that represented them at the Seattle Convention of the American Federation of Labor. The resolution introduced and on behalf of the Seceders published in another part of The Worker did not bring forth the support of one delegate, even to discuss it, and when the yea and nay vote was taken, two voices voted nay. This action was taken in spite of the agitation of the Seceders for six months previous to the convention, that they were going to surely be recognized by the American Federation of Labor at Seattle. Enough said.

Our Brotherhood is progressing beyond expectation. We are proud of the fact that we can now boast of some 28,000 members in good standing, over 6,000 more members than when the Secession occurred. Our aim is to go into the next American Federation of Labor Convention with a paid-up membership of 35,000 at least. We desire the co-operation of all members to that end. If each member would determine to bring into the fold at least one new member during the year he could do so and the same would not alone be a help to the Brotherhood, but he would be also a help to him.

Our Boston Convention was some convention. Just consider, if you will, the percentage of our membership which was represented there. Out of a total paid-up membership of 27,000 there were over 18,400 members actually represented in the convention, or more than two-thirds of our membership. This is unprecedented in the history of our Brotherhood and demonstrates the interest our members and local unions take in the welfare of the Brotherhood.

The local unions that are enjoying the best conditions are those local unions that are doing their full duty to the American Labor Movement and are affiliated with the State Federation of Labor, Central Labor Union and Building Trades Council. All local unions that are outside of the pale of those organizations should become affiliated with them at once.

Boost for our Union Label, all the time and everywhere. If you have a grudge against yourself don't blame your local union or the members thereof, as they are not to blame.

International Vice President James P. Noonan sat on the lid during the absence of the International President and International Secretary, attending the Convention of the American Federation of Labor and the departments thereof.

LIVE FOR SOMETHING.

Live for something, have a purpose,
And that purpose keep in view;
Drifting like a helmless vessel,
Thou can'st near to life be true.
Half the wrecks that strew life's ocean
If some star had been their guide,
Might have now been riding safely,
But they drifted with the tide.
Live for something and be earnest,
Though the work may humble be,
By the world of men unnoticed,
Known alone to God and thee.
Every act has priceless value
To the architect of fate;
'Tis the spirit of thy doing
That alone will make it great.
Live for something—God and angels
Are thy watchers in the strife
And above the smoke and conflict
Gleams the victor's crown of life.
Live for something God has given
Freely of His stores divine;
Richest gifts of earth and heaven,
If thou wilt, may be thine.

L. U. NO. 1, ST. LOUIS, MO.

To The Electrical Worker:

Greeting—Local Union No. 1, I. B. E. W., is progressing and rushing organization of all employed in our craft.

The true spirit of unionism prevails, and officers and members are anxious to see the year 1914 make a better record than the year of 1913, just about to pass into the never return, which has been one of great moment to the I. B. E. W. Looking back to January 1, 1913, and gradually following back, day to day, the happenings. Although fraught with anxious hours, and many disappointments, the entire year has been one of progress, greater than ever known to the labor world, the great increase of new members, and the return of the misled brothers to their old and most reliable associations is marvelous and as much at the entire movement has had their eye on us, while the work of the International officers have been virtually laid out to them. There has been very little shirk on their part. The fact that honest toil must reap its reward and that truth is mighty and will prevail, has been manifested. No body men was ever better organized than are the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. By the earnestness of the officers and rank and file, they have made many converts to the labor movement. Not only the I. B. E. W. have been benefitted but the entire wage earning people have been interested, and are more ready to commend than condemn the union wage earners, women and men. The manner men are now endeavoring to organize the women, is commendable. The ready action of the women under the advice and assistance given has placed them in the movement as a very acceptable ally. The pluck shown by the girls has made them a strong factor and will assist materially in the betterment of conditions regardless of sex. It has always been my desire to see women govern their own commercial interests, but they having been held down by old customs, and some very unjust rules of so-called society, it has been almost impossible to drive that dread from their minds. The rule that has existed so long to give to the rich more riches, is changing to give each what they honestly earn. Barbarians were better to their women than some of the so-called Christian employers. The life of a wage earner is nothing to them. They are willing to accept an unreasonable profit at the cost of brain and brawn of wage earners. The employer finds time to go the high-class entertainments and do such things without compensation. As a rich man commits no sins, they are only estimated as indiscretions. But the wage earner, attempting some of the unnoticeable actions of the rich, would be condemned by them and persecuted (not prosecuted) and placed in durance vile. Even there the unfortunates are not free from the profit grabber. The contractor hires them from the State at a very low rate per day, and then sets a task for them, that is beyond their capability and the prison official who are ignorant, as to what constitutes a days work, make rules by the violation of which the unfortunate prisoner is either whipped or put through some punishment which in reality is torture. The product of the prisons are put on the market to compete with those who have never been convicted, but have been paid such disgraceful wages, that they deserve double credit for remaining honest.

The work of the American Federation of Labor, comprised as it is of wage earners, has been such that out of the shops and mines some very brilliant men have stepped and made themselves heard and respected. The world is growing better, and all credit is not due to the churches. The labor movement is a combination of commercialism and religion. At the same time the Divine ruler is worshipped and obeyed. It may not be with as much ostentation as some of the churches practice, but it has a more truthful ring, and will be judged accordingly. Progress is not only for a certain class of mankind, and the time is coming when peace and good will to men, will not only be written on Xmas decorations, but practiced by men. It will be so that all that are inclined to do their share will be helped. The theories that all men are adopted to a certain vocation. If such is the case, some men are entirely out of place. Some are in the pulpit who should be carrying the hod. Some are elected to office who should not be there, and some are called masters of women and men who should be subjugated, and will be by the labor movement. As good men are found in what is called the humble walks of life as ever sat on a throne, the working men are easily deceived because they are honest and never practice delusion to earn a pittance, but gives a good days work for what the employer calls a good day's pay. The change is coming; the wage earner is learning his value, and will only sell his labor at his own price. If you are at all skeptical, look back but a few years and you will see what advance has been made. The employer dominated and the employee was submissive. A few cranks stepped out of line, and were discredited even those they tried to assist. The employer fearing the overthrow of his dynasty, began a fight against the advance of ideas, and resorted to all means to overthrow the movement. But like all good things it advanced in spite of their opposition and today is a very strong factor in the commercial world.

The advance of the wage earning women is worth studying. Keep yourself always ready to assist God's best gift to man and your reward will come here and hereafter. Owing to lack of space, I will close.

Wishing all a happy and prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours fraternally,
Baldy,
Press Secretary.

To The Electrical Worker.

Greeting—Local Union No. 1, I. B. E. W., affiliated with the A. F. of L. is growing, and making a record for itself that is causing some to become jealous and inclined to abuse. No. 1 will keep on in the good work in spite of all unfavorable comments and the secessionists.

Some of the members were fooled once and like a burned child dread the fire. They are mostly from Missouri.

Bombast and false statements have no influence any more with thinking people, and our boys are becoming deep thinkers. Look to your own laurels, and keep your conscience clear and some things you read will not be depressing. A knock is often a boost.

The last issue of the Scandalizer has letter from P. C. That should be read by all fair-minded men: The accused feels that it will boost his standing. P. C. and Herman Meyers (better known as Harry) have contracted a disease to such an alarming degree, that any person may get themselves into trouble, should either P. C. or H. M. tell an absolute truth they would choke to death. So don't question them too closely for fear you advertently force the disaster.

The honest efforts of L. U. No. 1, I. B. E. W., were and are now retarded not only by employees but by a dual organization that is willing to take the places of the striking members of No. 1. This same body are dominated by Herman Meyers, Wm. Pollard and P. C. A combination hard to contend with, the Irish Jew, with his weeping and seeming heartfelt pleadings and a body of men not appreciating an obligation taken voluntarily, or too lax to their own interests, to post themselves. Mistakes are made by the best men on earth, but there is small excuse for men who know better, to persist in actions, which in the long run is not only detrimental to their interests, but to that of all men in the trade. Mutual interests should be honestly discussed. Wave immediate individual interest to a certain degree. If you are not as eloquent at your neighbor, don't be discouraged. Your work will tell in your favor. Your membership in the Brotherhood justifies your demand on them for assistance; don't hesitate to ask it and don't hesitate to express your ideas in meetings. The member that calls you a fool simply has not considered what his fellow men think of him. All ideas taken together and summed down to an issue, is the best. No one man is wise to all pertaining to our mutual interests. The average man is energetic and naturally honest, but bad company will bring out lurking evil that may be there, but not manifested until the evil disposed takes a hand in matters, because the good man has been able to overcome evil inclinations, when only his own disposition is not assailed: Gather yourselves together individually, look up your own short comings, then judge your fellowman, and he will receive justice. As justice is about all we are asking and we are organized to get it. Members should by all means support those that they elect to represent them, until evidence beyond dispute can be forth coming; then, prefer charges according to the constitution. The evidence of what some men will stoop to, to gain money has been materially proven. Secessionism is one of the most despicable and cowardly acts of mankind unless oppression another miserable feature of man's inhumanity to man is being practiced and all honorable means have been tried. When you intend anything out of the ordinary study your points well, and when you have convinced yourself you are right, expend all your energy. If you fail owing to greater strength of your enemy, don't be a bad loser, but bide your time, and when you feel strong enough, give them another whirl, but not in the same direction, for they will be prepared for you. Go at it.

Snap judgment is gross injustice.

In the trouble with the Bell Telephone Company here, there has been a tendency to condemn the officers of Local Union No. 1. If men will wait until all matters have been gone into and thoroughly thrashed out, they will not be so ready to judge. Any honest person has no desire to injure another. It is much more pleasant to reserve your censure until you have facts, than to apologize after. The Executive Board of Local Union No. 1 are making no apologies, but are resting easy, fully assured that when all facts are presented they will be exonerated as far as intentions are concerned. The Executive Board had a proposition made to them that looked good on the face of them and advised a trial of good faith on the part of both parties to the issue. The time mentioned has not expired, so no proof of lack of said good faith is as yet manifest. The trouble was forced onto No. 1 and they made the best fight possible, under the circumstances. I feel there is no occasion to go into detail until the time limit expires.

The officers of Local Unions are not lawyers, but are honest trade unionists, and are willing to consider others honest until they are proven otherwise. Bide your time and things will assume a different aspect, when you see developments.

Keep your eye on No. 1. The officers and rank and file are O. K., which will be demonstrated when you see what a good Sub Local Union they will make out of the material we have in St. Louis.

St. Louis girls are as pretty and lady-like as any in the entire country, and are good fighters, clear headed and easy to learn that by organizing they will be benefitted. They are also very thankful to No. 1 for the support already rendered, and are confident the same will continue until they are self-supporting.

I am a lady's man, and will fight for their good as long as there is any fight left in me.

With cordial greeting to all members of the Brotherhood, I am,

Yours fraternally,

Baldy.

L. U. NO. 66, HOUSTON, TEX.

To the Editor of The Worker:

Just a few lines to let the brothers know that we are still climbing the hill to success after all the threats from the Reid bunch that they were going to put us out of business. I want to say right here when that bunch puts No. 66 out of business there won't be enough of them to explain how they did it, and the members of No. 66 don't have to give a booze party every month to hold our members nor do we have to threaten them with their life to keep them, or do we have to do the same to keep workers from joining their bunch. But I know it to be a fact that the Reid bunch have threatened several of their members with their lives if they joined us. Also outsiders, but with no effect. We get them just the same, and are going to continue to get them.

They now call the members of No. 66 the secret bunch as they can't find out any of our business, as they have made every effort possible to try to and that sure hurts them. If any brother wants to know what the Reid bunch is doing, just call around at the store room before they go to work, or if you can't make it there in time, just call on the job. You can find out all that transpires in their hall, and you might also be invited up to their Boose party. On or about the 12th of July there was a little controversy through one of our local papers in regards to the electrical workers and the electrical bunch in which a few lines appeared from one W. P. Boger of the bunch that reminded me of school days as it read like some little school boys' story. It started off something like this. We the so-called dual organization have as much right to the name International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as the other side, and we are working for principle, fairness and honest, and attending strictly to our own business. I could not help but laugh when I read that it said also they were not scabbing on anybody anywhere. I wonder when they said they were going to put Local No. 66 out of business if he thought that were strictly attending to their own business, and what he calls the stunt that their good brothers have pulled off in Chicago, Dallas, Hamilton, Ohio, Albany, St. Louis and numerous other places. If Mr. Boger would get in touch with some of the above Central Labor Councils, probably he would change his mind as they are not affiliated with anybody except Reid and Murphy. I would advise him to communicate with with some of the above and get the true story of the affairs.

With best wishes to our General Officers and success to all,

C. A. Boatman,

Pres.-Sec'y.

Dear Sir and Bro:—As this Local is about to present agreement on December 1 and have at the present time about twenty percent of our members out of work and prospects for more to be out of work and as there is a constant flow of travelers this way we think it is very necessary and hereby request the privilege allowed in Section 8 of Article 14 of the Constitution.

Thanking you in advance for early reply, I beg to remain,

L. U. NO. 165, NEWPORT NEWS, VA.

Editor The Electrical Worker.

Dear Sir and Bro:—I have just been elected President of Local No. 165 of Newport News, Va., and this is my first official communication after entering upon the duties and responsibilities of this very important position. My sole ambition is to do everything in my power for upbuilding the I. B. E. W. and I realize that all my efforts will amount to nothing unless I shall have the aid and assistance of my brothers. My great ambition is that at the end of term that the Local Union No. 165 shall have been bettered by reason of my having been placed at its head as President and while I expect to do everything in my power to this end, I intend to give to the I. B. E. W. my best efforts yet my success will depend entirely upon the officers and members of No. 165. There is evidence that the union is ready for an active and progressive work. The great progress of the I. B. E. W. at large should be a stimulus and inspiration for us to go forward. Bro. Ed. C. Kelly, our Financial Secretary, and Bro. A. C. Koontz, District Organizer of Virginia, have done much to build up the Local Union. I am offering a gold emblematic charm to the member of L. U. No. 165 bringing the most new members in the next three months. I am sending you the names and addresses of the officers of No. 165 to be placed in the Local Union Directory, Carter M. Boutchard, President, 1132 22d St., Newport News, Va.; Frank Boyer, 1112 22d St., Newport News, Va.; Ed. C. Kelly, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 23, Hampton, Va.; G. D. Poole, 2804 Chestnut Ave., Newport News, Va., Recording Secretary. In the near future I hope to be able to write in a more specific way as to the work before us. With good wishes to one and all, and desiring a greater success to the I. B. E. W., I am, Fraternally yours,

Carter M. Boutchard,
President.

L. U. NO. 211, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

Editor The Electrical Worker:

Just a few lines to let you know that the bunk you hear about No. 211 being with the Reid and McNulty Int. Weary Willies isn't so and won't be. One H. H. Freed has been in town trying to get the boys think his way. But not so as his way is not right and also he wants 45c and we want 50c. We have a little trouble with 2 or 3 of the contractors failing to live up to the agreement. Freed is trying to get them to back his shoe-strings, but they don't seem to fall for that junk. You will note a change in officers as the unruly ones had to be broken. This is all for now. All hands together for a United Brotherhood. As ever,

Greeting—As we have been having considerable trouble with the elevator constructors in Cincinnati, Local No. 212 decided through motion to accept no more traveling cards pending decision on said trouble. Hoping this will meet with your approval, also wishing to hear from you soon concerning same, I remain with best wishes,

L. U. NO. 226, TOPEKA, KAN.

Editor The Electrical Worker.

Dear Sir and Bro:—It is not my desire to monopolize the jaget of The Worker, but as everyone else seems to think it too much trouble, I'll have to bear the burden once more.

L. U. No. 226 is situated in the stronghold of the enemies country, very few affiliated locals are located in this neck of the woods and most of the Reid locals even are weak. I don't understand why the electricians of Kansas don't get busy and do nothing. It seems as though they ought to be the easiest craft to organize of any. Especially the inside men. Topeka is the only 100 per cent organized town about here that I know of. True, we have a license for men and license and bond for contractors, but we got it ourselves. No one came along and handed it to us. And it has been the one great aid in keeping "the Mamma's Shining Lights" and the bright "CollegeChumps" out of the contracting trade. The examination is rigid and one needs to know the trade to pass. The board is composed of one contractor, one union electrician and the city inspector.

Many union men are opposed to the license system, but I feel confident that they would change their views if they had lived with it for a while. I would like to see it everywhere. I think we would find more 100 percent organized towns.

Yours respectfully,
J. R. Woodhull.

L. U. NO. 354, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

Editor The Electrical Worker.

Dear Sir and Bro:—At our last regular meeting I was instructed to notify you not to accept any more per capita tax on R. Saunders' card No. 221213 until such time that he settles with Local No. 354. I. B. E. W. When Bro. Saunders was elected a delegate to the Boston Convention he was ordered by this Local to bring back a full report and an itemized account of all his expenditure. This he has refused to do and has withdrawn from this organization and joined the Reid faction. Before leaving for the Convention Saunders was given $156.00 and in addition to this he received $199.18 at the Convention making a total of $355.18. Now allowing a reasonable amount for railroad fare and other expenses, you can readily see this organization is entitled to some refund from Saunders which we have never received.

On account of Saunder's actions this Local has seen fit to place a fine of $150.00 against him.

Hoping this will meet with your approval, I remain,

Fraternally yours,
L. R. Derbridge,
Recording Secretary.

L. U. NO. 534, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

Editor The Electrical Worker.

Dear Sir and Bro:—Kindly have the following published in The Worker: On account of unsettled conditions in the jurisdiction of Local No. 534, New York City, we have placed in effect, Section 3 of Article 14 of the Constitution.

With best wishes, I am,
Fraternally yours,
G. M. Whitford,
Secretary.

L. U. NO. 716, HOUSTON, TEX.

Right at this time is when the brothers of No. 716 are doing very little talking and lots of work; work on ideas and committees, work attending special board meetings, laboring and struggling to get Local No 716 before the public in the light of an efficient and servicable organization engaged in the bettering and developing of the entire electrical field of Houston and vicinity.

We are indeed fortunate in possessing a large number of calm clean thinkers and it is certainly a sight to gladden the heart of any officer of our Local to see how these boys when allotted a task, get right down to business never shirking a meeting always ready and glad to "be up and stirring with a heart for anything."

This working for a labor cause is a cultivated art we all know, and I am proud of the fact that the desire to develop it is ever on the increase in our Houston Local, and I give utterance to this phrase merely to make it a prelude to the following: I refer to the brothers of our I. B. who are what might be called the bashful brothers rather the silent ones: we have them in all our locals; the one thinks that his ideas will prove a hindrance to our efforts rather than a benefit, and it is to him that I call upon to hearken unto this message.

Remember that the greatest men of all times have been ridiculed by some one at some particular time of their career, but that when their efforts had brought them a recognition of the people at large, the ones who ridiculed were as naught compared to the one who strove to do his best and followed out the bidding of his inner promptings.

And further, brother, remember that the mightiest wheels of any machine, human or otherwise, may be slipping and slipping, turning and turning, in a never ending muddle, and that the unexpressed thoughts of any man may be the necessary mental sand that is thrown under these wheels would enable them to take a firm hold and roll out upon a smoother plain where the wasted effort of the useless turning and needless slipping could be utilized to a great advantage for all concerned.

So therefore backward brother, speak up so that our Brotherhood as a whole may be bettered.

The Worker will welcome the news that Brother K. J. Whaley, the former business agent of this Local is now the directing force of a newspaper of Texas known as the Trades Review. This paper came into being some months ago and its growth has been very rapid, having at this time a very large local circulation and quite a number of out of town subscribers; the paper features the labor news from over the entire country and Brother Whaley's forceful and strong editorials are considered a reliable source of information in regard to all local conditions.

Local No. 716 in its entirety wishes him well in his new venture and are confident and proud of his ability to make good.

We are expecting a very peaceful settlement of our differences with the contractors the first of January, but are aware that overconfidence is always a bad thing, and we are working along, keeping this thought in mind.

Wishing all the good luck and prosperity to all the locals and members of our I. B. that I hope falls to our lot, I will close this month's letter respectfully requesting that all communication relative to the business of Local No. 716 be addressed to

Yours fraternally,

H. L. Draper, B. A.

L. U. NO. 716, HOUSTON, TEX.

Editor The Electrical Worker:

Before the issue of our Journal in which this will appear, shall have left the press, another convention of our International will have become history, and we are praying that it will be the kind of history that sounds good to the ears; the kind that makes the pulse quicken and brings the luster to the eyes as one thinks of the hard battles fought, and the gruelling encounters of brother against brother, that this great convention should bring to an end.

We are thoroughly in accord with some of the special features proposed, but have instructed our able delegate upon but few, considering it advisable to allow him the use of his own discretion, which we have found to be mighty good.

We wish to let the Brotherhood know that we are in good shape and everybody working, and the prospects fairly good for the future.

We would much like to see a letter from each local in The Worker every month, even if it contains but a few lines to let us all know how our brother members are progressing, or what their troubles are.

K. J. Whaley.

Members of Local No. 130, New Orleans, La., have been called upon to mourn the sudden and untimely death of Brother L. F. Punt who came here only a short time ago from Chicago, Ill., his former home. After joining this Local eight weeks ago he secured employment with a local construction company, who sent him to Lake Borgne Canal to wire steel barges. Brother Punt began work on Saturday, October 11, reporting again for work, Sunday, October 12, at 8 a. m. Nothing had been seen or heard from him since that time until Tuesday, October 14, when his body was discovered floating upon the surface of the canal. Members of this Local were notified and Brother P. B. Antry went to identify the body at the inquest held by the coroner. As Bro. Punt, owing to the short duration of his membership in Local No. 130, was not entitled to any benefits, at the solicitation of Rev. William Reese, the Labor Chaplain of the A. F. of L. in New Orleans, the Local decided to give Bro. Punt a Christian burial at the expense of same. A committee consisting of Bros. P. B. Antry, N. P. Pigott, C. J. Riley, D. J. Burns, accompanied by Rev. William Reese left New Orleans early Wednesday, October 15, taking along a coffin in which to place Bro. Punt's remains. Rev. Wm. Reese intended to enter the body near the place of the accident, but as there was no cemetery within ten miles, the body of Bro. Punt was after properly placed in the coffin, returned to the city of New Orleans, where Rev. Wm. Reese conducted the obsequies, interment being held in the Greenwood Cemetery. The circumstances surrounding Bro. Punt's death pointing to a probability of foul play, members of Local No. 130 are not satisfied with the coroner's verdict of accidental death by drowning, and strenuous efforts are made to clear the mystery of Bro. Punt's death. As very little is known about his parents, Local No. 130 is desirous to communicate with his relatives at once, and has authorized to send all communications regarding Bro. Punt, his relatives or friends who may know about his people to Rev. William Reese, Labor Chaplain, 509 Washington Ave., New Orleans, La. The accompanied cut is a splendid picture of Bro. Punt and Local No. 130 asks all members especially those in Chicago, Ill., to assist them in their mission to locate his people. Much credit and commendation is due Local No. 130 for their generous and unselfish spirit, which endured them to freely give out of their small means to see that Bro. Punt found a honored grave, a Christian burial and a resting place as befitted a member of organized labor. May his soul rest in peace.

Dear Sir:—Kindly insert the following in your Worker:

FAMOUS-BARR CO.

Olive, Locust, Sixth and Seventh Streets,
St. Louis, Missouri.

The palace of retail commerce and purchasable happiness for womankind and mankind. Anything you fail to find in this institution, manufacturers have failed to put on the market.

The firm have been absolutely fair with organized labor, and more particularly with the Electrical Workers.

The entire store has evidence, every few feet, of our craft. This being the largest individual job ever pulled off in St. Louis, as well as one of the most modern, is an evidence of what can be accomplished by harmonious action between employer and employe. At no time has there ever been hinted trouble between the Famous-Barr Co. and Local Union No. 1, I. B. E. W. The menace to the trades union movement, "jurisdiction of work" has been the only difficulty. The Famous-Barr Co. suffered, but did not complain. Their efforts have not been entirely personal interest. On many occasions the writer has received unexpected favors for members of Local Union No. 1, I. B. E. W. At no time have the management of the Famous-Barr Co. been too busy to consider any worthy suggestions from any person. When any trouble can not be settled by Mr. F. Z. Solomon, general manager, to my mind some one is asking too much or trying to get something not justly belonging to them. Col. M. Schoenberg, vice-president, is anything but a purse-proud person. The charities he is directly interested in and the good done to all, regardless of station in life, or nationality, is evidence of true manhood. The Colonel can be approached by the most humble employe. Mr. D. May, president of the Famous-Barr Co., could tell of many noble acts of charity. If confronted with facts of having done something beneficial to his fellow man, he would smilingly acknowledge. Among other institutions that owe much to Mr. May is the Hospital for Consumptives at Denver, Col. That, with many others, regardless of denomination, can produce proof of his unrestricted charity. If the commercial world had but few more such men as comprise the management of the Famous-Barr Co., there would be few strikes, and mutual interests would receive due consideration, and the whole world would be benefitted.

Mr. S. B. Butler is responsible for much of the rules laid down by the Famous-Barr Co. Anyone knowing the enormity of the enterprise, and passing through the store, will acknowledge a system existing that is nearly perfect for both employer and employe.

Mr. L. Landau, assistant to Mr. Solomon, has a vast acquaintance, and is very popular. He is very pronounced in his desire to favor union men. He will meet them more than half way.

The following measurements and mention of utilities will give the average mechanic an idea of what the Famous-Barr Co. have carried to completion:

The building known as the Railway Exchange is twenty-one stories over ground. A tunnel runs two hundred feet to a building fronting on St. Charles street, known as Kingston building. This entire building is taken up as power house for Railway Exchange building, and Famous-Barr Co., and warehouse for Famous-Barr Co. The Kingston building dimensions are one hundred and twenty-six by two hundred and thirty feet. Ten stories in height, with escalators running from floor to floor, and one main escalator running to the Railway Exchange installed in the United States. All installed by union men. The elevators are of the most modern types. The Famous-Barr Co. have sixteen high-speed passenger elevators, eight on north side and eight on south side, in center of store. There are two freight elevators, with nine by twelve feet platforms, and one with platform eleven by twenty-three, and three employees' elevators that are counterparts to those used for customers. The chutes and escalator system for handling purchases are the most complete known in the world. A visit to the store of the Famous-Barr Co. will convince the public that St. Louis has the most thoroughly equipped department store in the world, and all was completed by organized labor, and designed by a firm entirely favorable to union men. If you don't believe me, ask any labor unionist that has been on the building, capable of handling ten car loads of freight per hour. All run by electricity, and said electric service was all installed by members of Local Union No. 1, under union rules.

The space occupied for the store is seven floors, two basements. The cash tube system is the largest ever job. I know both the Building Trades and Central Body will endorse the Famous-Barr Co., and verify my statement.

St Louis may be slow, but when they do anything it is generally well done and lasts until something better has come out.

Baldy.

Reports of Officers .. and Organizers ..

To the Officers and Members.

Greeting—At the close of the convention I went with a committee of Local No. 503 of Boston to see some of their contractors as a disagreement had arisen on several sections of their new agreement. The same was adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

I then went to the city of Newark, N. J., on the call of Local No. 190 to assist their committee who were handling the grievances of their members working in the Crocker Wheeler Company.

Then went to the city of Worcester on a call of Local 616 to instruct them what course to follow in presenting their demands to the New England Telephone Company, they appointed a committee to handle the same and I instructed them what course to follow.

I stopped in Springfield and saw the President and Business Agent of Local No. 7 on the question of working permits as well the drafting of an agreement for the fixture workers to be presented to the fixture contractors of Springfield. The wiremen of Local No. 7 have signed a one-year agreement for $4.00 a day and one helper to every two journeymen and closed shop, after being on strike two weeks to obtain same. This is the first closed shop agreement for Springfield in some years.

I went to New York City to meet President Dale of the Metal Polishers to endeavor to have the independent organization of Chandelier Makers affiliate with our organizations. He taking the makers and polishers and we the assemblers. Their meeting being a very small one they laid the matter over and will arrange a meeting for us and then take the matter up for action.

I attended a meeting of the Executive Board of Local No. 419 to make arrangements for the taking over of the assemblers of the Independent Union when we get to that point.

I attended a meeting of Local No. 52 of Newark, N. J.

Also attended a meeting of Local No. 501 of Yonkers, N. Y., and requested them to appoint a committee to meet a like committee of Local No. 20 and myself on their resolution No. 38 that they presented to the convention, and was concurred in and referred to me by the I. P. for adjustment.

I attended a meeting of Local No. 20 of New York City and requested them to appoint a committee to meet Local No. 501 committee and myself on resolution mentioned above. I went with a committee of the local to see the General Manager of the Queens Borough Gas and Electric Company of Far Rockaway, N. Y., against whom Local No. 20 had a strike for the last five months. He raised the wages all around for linemen foreman, trouble men and ground men, Local then declared the strike off.

I attended the meeting of Local No. 534, of New York City.

Also attended a meeting of Local No. 358 of Perth Amboy, N. Y.

I went to Albany, N. Y., on the request of Local No. 696 and attended their meeting. Also visited most all the shops in the city with a view of terminating the existing strike, but it is a question now of starting a campaign and visiting all the organizations in the city and getting a few strikes on a few jobs. Then the contractors will be willing to talk business. Things have been going so easy for them that they don't know there was a strike on, as most of the men found jobs for out of town contractors at the beginning of the strike.

Went from there to Utica, N. Y., and held meetings with committees of our Local No. 502 the Central Body and Local No. 181 of the Reid faction, and finally called a special meeting of Local No. 502. Went over their books gave them certain instructions and had them agree on a plan of amalgamation for them and Local No. 181, I then requested Local No. 181 to call a special meeting which they did and same was held Sunday morning. I then submitted to them the plan of amalgamation which was thoroughly discussed and considered and on account of the short notice for the call of the special meeting only one-third of the members was present, so they requested that I give them till their next regular meeting to accept the proposition to which I agreed.

In the city of Utica is an independent organization of picture operators from which I received a charter application.

I then came to New York City and went with the business agent of Local No. 419 to see their employers to get an increase in wages for journeymen, and finally agreed to a thirty cent increase per day going into effect Jan. 1, 1914.

I attended a meeting of Sub Local No. 190 of Newark, N. J.

Also attended a meeting of Local No. 419 of New York City.

In closing I approved for presentation to employers agreements for Locals No.

717 of Boston and No. 551 of Amsterdam, N. Y. Went over several appeals, and attended to several other propositions that have not come to a head, and would be detrimental to report same now.

With best wishes, I remain,
Fraternally yours,
G. M. Bugniazet,
International Vice President.

To the Officers and Members:

Greeting—I held a meeting in New York City of committees of Local Unions Nos. 20 and 501 on resolution No. 38 that was referred to me for adjustment by the I. P. After a lengthy meeting we adjourned to give Local No. 501 time to present evidence in support of their claims. Since then I have received a notice from Local No. 501 to call the next meeting in Yonkers, so they can call witnesses.

I went to Hartford, Conn., and in company with Business Agent H. Case of Local No. 35 went to see all the contractors on their proposed working rules. After getting all the objections to them from the contractors, the Local modified the rules to meet most of the objections. Still two of the contractors objected to them. The Local then decided as work was quiet, to withdraw the rules till the spring, and then present them.

I then went to Worcester, Mass., at the call of Local Union No. 616 and held a conference with President Spelman of Local No. 616 who reported to me the progress they had made with their demands with the Telephone Company. From the progress made I believe good results will be attained. The only bad feature was the retrenchment policy of the company coming just at the time the demands were being presented. But this was a general policy throughout and not locally there on account of the men organizing.

While in Worcester I received a telegram from Local Union No. 181 of Utica, N. Y., that they had accepted the plan of reaffiliating with our organization, a little later I received a telephone call from there that Oliver Meyers and L. D. Lacey were going around amongst the contractors and the men trying to cause dissention so as to frustrate their plan of reaffiliating and for me to get there as soon as possible. So I left that night for Utica and amalgamated Locals No. 502 our Local with Local No. 181 of the Reid faction to be known as Local No. 181. Eight members in good standing refused to come over as well as a few in bad standing. Then Meyers and Lacey went around and notified all contractors they would have to live up to their agreement or they would get injunction against them to compel them. That is the same stunt they pulled in Syracuse, N. Y., last year when they had Local No. 43 get an injunction against W. Gough, a contractor who had signed with us, and when it came to try the case they refused to go ahead on the technical grounds that a receiver had been appointed for the firm in question and the judge in appointing the receiver granted an order prohibiting any one from interfering with said receiver in the execution of his work. Their attorneys claimed they could not proceed as they would be in contempt of the order and our attorney could not move the court to proceed with the case. The court ruled that we had to get a modified order from the judge who appointed the receiver so we instructed our attorney to proceed and get the necessary modification but their attorneys got to the judge first and objected to a modification so the case died a natural death in court without trial. Having the experience of their action in Syracuse I knew they were bluffing. This same Meyers and Lacey than drew up a three-year agreement to go into effect the 1st of May, 1914, for $3.75 for 18 months and $4.00 a day for the balance of the agreement and went around to all the contractors to sign same. Only two signed it. Then they brought it around trying to scare the members back to them but it did not work. The present wages are $3.56 till May 1. This is a new departure for officers to draw up an agreement, sign it and then tell the men they must live up to it (something they had no say in). That is one of the Democratic policies of their tottering organization. They have since been going around wanting to hire the largest hall and debate the question. They have put that proposition up to every one in town from the Chamber of Commerce down. They finally got one of their friendly contractors to call a meeting of contractors and they were busy for a half an hour jumping around telephoning all the absentees but their efforts were poorly repaid, as our contractors refused to change back to them.

I went to Schenectady, N. Y., on call of Brother Wickham, the chairman of the Adjustment Board of the G. E. Works, on the question they were having with said company. From his report it looked as if everything would be adjusted satisfactorily so I left for the city of Utica. But the following week all the employees went on strike and after a four and a half day strike settled the question and returned to work.

I attended a meeting of Local No. 724 of Moving Picture Operators and installed their officers and gave them the secret work of the order. They have adopted a cut for a button and slide to be shown on the screen when they open the show.

I went to Atlantic City, N. J., on the call of Organizer Brother E. G. Smith and attended with him the meeting of Local No. 211. There were forty-one members present and they rescinded the action taken by a handful of their members at their last meeting. Mr. Freed, a Reid organizer, was present, but refused to stay and defend his actions of the past week, but ran around to the newspaper office and put in a large item that the meeting was packed by Philadelphia members of Local No. 98 and that police headquarters had a squad of police ready to rush around in case of a riot and that we forced the officers to resign and elected Philadelphians in their places. All the above statements were malicious lies, no one was there but members of Local No. 211 except Brother Smith and myself present, and the meeting was very orderly and the officers resigned themselves when they saw charges being drawn up against them for their actions.

I then came back to Utica and have since visited all the contractors quite a few jobs and making the rounds of all the other unions with Business Agent Peter Hughes, whom Local No. 181 elected to assist me to clean up the situations. What makes this fight nasty is the scattered position of the jobs as well as their smallness and the trades having no business agent except the carpenters. They tried to get control of the funds of the Local but we found it out in time and had an attorney place an attachment on them in the bank so they can't draw a cent of them.

I came to Jersey City on call of Local Union No. 164 and went over with them several questions affecting their jurisdiction, and also approved their proposed advance in wages to be submitted to their employers.

In closing I hope to be able to report in my next report that the Utica situation is thoroughly cleaned up. With best wishes, I remain,

Fraternally yours,
G. M. Bugniazet, I. V. P.

Editor The Electrical Worker:

The agreement under which No. 211 has operated for some months past provided among other things that an increase of from 45 to 50 cents an hour should take effect November 1, 1913. Also provided that either party desiring any change in its automatic course would give notice of the desired change ninety days in advance.

October 20 several of the firms filed notice that the advance would not be granted. When the first of November came all firms except two, however, made good and paid the 50 cents.

With two firms holding out, one Harry Freed, was not slow to see an opportunity to disrupt and immediately began playing into the hands of some who desired to rat, as well as into the hands of certain contractors.

He promised he would steal No. 211, on some dark, quiet night and at a "special meeting would have a resolution passed accepting the old scale, reducing those already getting the increase and put all hands back at 45 cents. In all they failed miserably. Their efforts to affiliate with the R. M., I. W. W. (Reid-Murphy, International Weary Willies) were discountenanced; his "special meeting" adjourned in confusion; unworthy officers displaced by loyal members; all the property and funds transferred to our keeping and men determined that the 50-cent scale shall rule. Surely "the ways of the transgressor is hard." Presume the brothers of Albany, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Gary and other cities will watch with considerable interest the final outcome and settlement reached in Atlantic City.

"Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men."

Fraternally,

E. G. Smith, I. O.

P. S.—The funds of the local union were transferred Saturday to J. B. Con-sart, our new treasurer.

Editor Electrical Worker:

Through the columns of our official journal, I desire to express appreciation for the splendid efforts of Brothers H. M. Tilbrook, J. Park Keenan, J. E. Paxton and E. E. Greenawalt, of Lancaster, Pa., on behalf of clean-cut trade unionism. They did everything men could do to prevent the black demon secession from gaining a foothold in their midst, and the formation of an organization of Electrical Workers to fight against and retard the progress of the Brotherhood.

Meyers-Freed-Kimball Co. organized (?) in Lancaster, August 13th, and after three fair discussions upon the question, the members, on August 29th, voted by a substantial majority, to affiliate with the International Brotherhood. The seed of discord, disorganization and disruption personified, had already too well rooted, however, to hold a fair portion of the inside men into a bona fide labor organization, notwithstanding the fact that the leaders had agreed to stand by whatever action the local would take. August 29th, a goodly portion of the original number are standing loyal and fighting a lock-out imposed upon them at the time the M-F-K. Co. got them together. And let it be said, these men that are "standing their ground and fighting for a principle," have in their make-up the construction material that has made our Brotherhood a recognized and respected labor organization, not alone in Lancaster, but of the organized labor movement of the world.

At this time, I desire also to thank the Philadelphia Building Trades Council for the unlimited and united support that it is rendering Local No. 98. Committees, who, together with the Executive Board, are on the job day and night, holding conferences in our behalf with owners, architects, sub or general contractors, as the case may be, and the cleaning they have assisted us in giving the Reid-Murphy following is a wonder. Local No. 98 maintains offices at Building Trades headquarters, 1312 Filbert street; holds meetings in the Parkway building, with one of the most comfortable and elaborately furnished lodge rooms in the city; two business agents, Brothers Nicholas and Coleman, and anything passing their eagle eye unobserved is unworthy of mention.

We earnestly hope to have all the Electrical Workers of Philadelphia marching under the banner of the Brotherhood soon.

Faternally,

E. G. Smith, I. O.

Elementary Lessons in Electricity and Magnetism

LESSON XIX.—Physical and Physiological Effects of the Current.

221. Molecular Actions.—Metal conductors, when subjected to the prolonged action of currents, undergo slow molecular changes. Wires of copper and brass gradually become brittle under its influence. During the passage of the current through metallic wires their cohesion is temporarily lessened, and there also appears to be a decrease in their coefficient of elasticity. It was thought by Edlund that a definite elongation could be observed in strained wires when a current was passed through them; but it has not yet been satisfactorily shown that this elongation is independent of the elongation due to the heating of the wire owing to the resistance it opposes to the current.

222. Electric Osmose.—Porret observed that if a strong current is led into certain liquids, as if to electrolyse them, a porous partition being placed between the electrodes, the current mechanically carries part of the liquid through the porous diaphragm, so that the liquid is forced up to a higher level on one side than on the other. This phenomenon, known as electric osmose, is most manifest when badly conducting liquids, such as alcohol and bisulphide of carbon, are used. The transfer through the diaphragm takes place in the direction of the current; that is to say, the liquid is higher about the kathode than round the anode.

223. Electric Distillation.—Closely connected with the preceding phenomenon is that of the electric distillation of liquids. It was noticed by Beccaria that an electrified liquid evaporated more rapidly than one not electrified. Gernez has recently shown that in a bent closed tube, containing two portions of liquid, one of which is made highly + and the other highly —, the liquid passes over from + to —. This apparent distillation is not due to difference of temperature, nor does it depend on the extent of surface exposed, but is effected by a slow creeping of the liquid along the interior surface of the glass tubes. Bad conductors, such as turpentine, do not thus pass over.

224. Diaphragm Currents.—Professor Quincke discovered that a current is set up in a liquid when it is forced by pressure through a porous diaphragm. This phenomenon may be regarded as the converse of electric osmose. The E.M.F. of the current varies with the pressure and with the nature of the diaphragm. When water was forced at a pressure of one atmosphere through sulphur, the difference of potential was over 9 volts. With diaphragms of porcelain and bladder the differences were only .35 and .01 volts respectively.

225. Electro-Capillary Phenomena.—If a horizontal glass tube, turned up at the ends, be filled with dilute acid, and a single drop of mercury be placed at about the middle of the tube, the passage of a current through the tube will cause the drop to move along towards the negative pole. It is believed that the liberation of very small quantities of gas by electrolysis at the surface where the mercury and acid meet alters the surface-tension very considerably, and thus a movement results from the capillary forces. Lippman, Dewar, and others, have constructed upon this principle capillary electrometers, in which the pressure of a column of liquid is made to balance the electro-capillary force exerted at the surface of contact of mercury and dilute acid, the electro-capillary force being nearly proportional to the electromotive-force when this does not exceed one volt. Fig. 93 shows the capillary electrometer of Dewar. A glass tube rests horizontally between two glass dishes in which holes have been bored to receive the ends of the tube. It is filled with mercury, and a single drop of dilute acid is placed in the tube. Platinum wires to serve as electrodes dip into the mercury in the dishes. An E.

M.F. of only  $\frac{1}{300}$  volt suffices to produce a measureable displacement of the drop. The direction of the displacement varies with that of the current.

226. Physiological Actions.—Currents of electricity passed through the limbs affect the nerves with certain painful sensations, and cause the muscles to undergo involuntary contractions. The sudden rush of even a small charge of electricity from a Leyden jar charged to a high potential, or from an induction coil (see Fig. 148), gives a sharp and painful shock to the system. The current from a few strong Grove's cells, conveyed through the body by grasping the terminals with moistened hands, gives a very different kind of sensation, not at all agreeable, of a prickling in the joints of the arms and shoulders, but not producing any spasmodic contractions, except it be in nervous or weakly persons, at the sudden making or breaking of the circuit. The difference between the two cases lies in the fact that the tissues of the body offer a very considerable resistance, and that the difference of potential in the former case may be many thousands of volts hence, though the actual quantity stored up in the Leyden jar is very small, its very high E.M.F. enables it at once to overcome the resistance. The battery, although it might, when working through a good conductor, afford in one second a thousand times as much electricity, cannot, when working through the high resistance of the body, transmit more than a small fraction, owing to its limited E.M.F.

After the discovery of the shock of the Leyden jar by Cunaeus in 1745 many experiments were tried. Louis XV of France caused an electric shock from a battery of Leyden jars to be administered to 700 Carthusian monks joined hand in hand, with prodigious effect. Franklin killed a turkey by a shock from a Leyden jar.

227. In 1752 Sulzer remarked that "if you join two pieces of lead and silver, and then lay them upon the tongue you will notice a certain taste resembling that of green vitriol, while each piece apart produces no such sensation." This GALVANIC TASTE, not then suspected to have any connection with electricity, may be experienced by placing a silver coin on the tongue and a steel pen under it, the edges of them being then brought into metallic contact. The same taste is noticed if the two wires from the poles of a voltaic cell are placed in contact with the tongue.

228. Ritter discovered that a feeble current transmitted through the eyeball produces the sensation as of a bright flash of light by its sudden stimulation of the optic nerve. A stronger current transmitted by means of moistened conductors attached to the battery terminals gave a sensation of blue and green colours in flowing between the forehead and the hand. Helmholtz, repeating this experiment, observed only a wild rush of colour. Dr. Hunter saw flashes of light when a piece of metal placed under the tongue was touched against another which touched the moist tissues of the eye. Volta and Ritter heard musical sounds when a current was passed through the ears and Humboldt found a sensation to be produced in the organs of smell when a current was passed from the nostril to the soft palate. Each of the specialised senses can be stimulated into activity by the current. Man possesses no specialised sense for the perception of electrical forces, as he does for light and for sound; but there is no reason for denying the possibility that some of the lower creatures may be endowed with a special electrical sense.

The following experiment shows the effect of feeble currents on cold-blooded creatures. If a copper (or silver) coin be laid on a piece of sheet zinc, and a common garden snail be set to crawl over the zinc, directly it comes into contact with the copper it will suddenly pull in its horns, and shrink in its body. If it is set to crawl over two copper wires, which are then placed in contact with a feeble voltaic cell, it immediately announces the establishment of a current by a similar contraction.<sup>1</sup>

229. Muscular Contractions.—In 1678 Swammerdam showed to the Grand Duke of Tuscany that when a portion of muscle of a frog's leg hanging by a thread of nerve bound with silver wire was held over a copper support, so that both nerve and wire touched the copper, the muscle immediately contracted. More than a century later Galvani's attention was drawn to the subject by his observation of spasmodic contractions in the legs of freshly-killed frogs under the influence of the "return-shock" experienced every time a neighboring electric machine was discharged. Unaware of Swammerdam's experiment, he discovered in 178 the fact (alluded to in Art. 148 as leading ultimately to the discovery of the Voltaic Pile) that when nerve and muscle touch two dissimilar metals in contact with one another a contraction of the muscle takes place. The limbs of the frog, prepared as directed by Galvani, are shown in Fig. 94. After the animal has been killed hind limbs are detached and skinned; the crural nerves and their attachments to the lumbar vertebrae remaining. For some hours after death the limbs retain their contractile power. The frog's limbs thus prepared form an excessively delicate galvanoscope: with them, for example, the excessively delicate induction-currents of the telephone (Lesson XI.) can be shown, though the most sensitive galvanometers barely detect them. Galvani and Aldini proved that other creatures undergo like effects. With a pile of 100 pairs Aldini experimented on newly killed sheep, oxen, and rabbits, and found them to suffer spasmodic muscular contractions. Humboldt proved the same on fishes and Zanotti, by sending a current through a newly killed grasshopper, caused it to emit its familiar chirp. Aldini, and later Dr. Ure of Glasgow, experimented on the bodies of executed criminals, with a success terrible to behold. The facial muscles underwent horrible contortions, and the chest heaved with the contraction of the diaphragm. This has suggested the employment of electric currents as an adjunct in reviving persons who have been drowned, the contraction of the muscles of the chest serving to start respiration into activity. The small muscles attached to the roots of the hairs of the head appear to be markedly sensitive to electrical conditions from the readiness with which electrification causes the hair to stand on end.

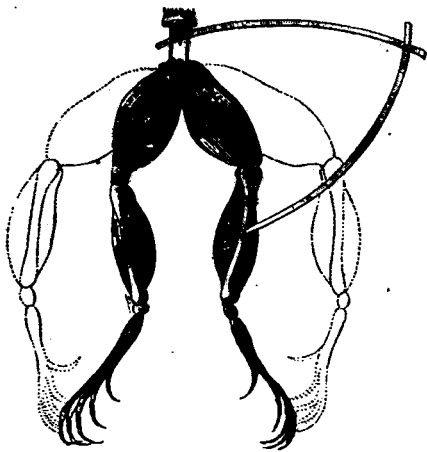

Fig. 94.

230. Conditions of Muscular Contraction.—To produce muscular contraction the current must traverse a portion of the nerve longitudinally. In a freshly prepared frog the current causes a contraction only momentarily when the circuit is made or broken. A rapidly interrupted current will induce a second contraction before the first has had time to pass off, and the muscle may exhibit thus a continuous contraction resembling etanus. The prepared frog after a short time becomes less sensitive, and a "direct" current (that is to say, one passing along the nerve in the direction from the brain to the muscle) only produces an effect when the circuit is made while an "inverse" current only produces an effect when the circuit is broken. Matteucci, who observed this, also discovered by experiments on living animals that there is a distinction between the conductivity of sensory and motor nerves,—a "direct" current affecting the motor nerves on making the circuit, and the sensory nerves on breaking it while an "inverse" current produced inverse results. Little is, however, yet known of the conditions of conductivity of the matter of the nerves; they conduct better than muscular tissue, cartilage, or bone; but of all substances in the body the blood conducts best. Powerful currents doubtless electrolyse the blood to some extent, coagulating it and the albumin it contains. The power of contracting under the influence of the current appears to be a distinguishing property of protoplasm wherever it occurs. The amoeba, the most structureless of organisms, suffers contractions. Ritter discovered that the sensitive plant shuts up when electrified, and Burdon Sanderson has shown that this property extends to other vegetables, being exhibited by the carnivorous plant, the Dionaea or Venus' Fly Trap.

231. Animal Electricity.—Although, in his later writings at least, Galvani admitted that the electricity thus operating arose from the metals employed, he insisted on the existence of an animal electricity resident in the muscular and nervous structures. He showed that contractions could be produced without using any metals at all by merely touching a nerve at two different points along its length with a morsel of muscle cut from a living frog; and that a conductor of one metal when joining a nerve to a muscle also sufficed to cause contraction in the latter. Galvani and Aldini regarded these facts as a disproof of Volta's contact-theory. Volta regarded them as proving that the contact between nerve and muscle itself produced (as in the case of two dissimilar metals) opposite electrical conditions. Nobili, later, showed that when the nerve and the muscle of the frog were respectively connected by a water-contact with the terminals of a delicate galvanometer, a current is produced which lasts several hours: he even arranged a number of frogs' legs in series, like the cells of a battery, and thus increased the current. Matteucci showed that through the muscle alone there is an electromotive-force. Du Bois

Reymond has shown that if the end of a muscle be cut across, the ends of the muscular fibres of the transverse section are negative, and the sides of the muscular fibres are positive, and that this difference of potential will produce a current even while the muscle is at rest. To demonstrate this he employed a fine astatic galvanometer with 20,000 turns of wire in its coils and to obviate errors arising from the contact of the ends of the wires with the tissues unpolarisable electrodes were used, made by plunging terminal zinc points into a saturated solution of sulphate of zinc, contained in a fine glass tube, the end of which was stopped with a porous plug of moistened china clay. The contraction of muscles also produces currents. These Du Bois Reymond obtained from his own muscles by dipping the tips of his fore-fingers into two cups of salt water communicating with the galvanometer terminals. A sudden contraction of the muscles of either arm produced a current, from the contracted toward the uncontracted muscles. Dewar has shown that when light falls upon the retina of the eye an electric current is set up in the optic nerve.

232. Medical Applications.—Electric currents have been successfully employed as an adjunct in restoring persons rescued from drowning; the contraction of the diaphragm and chest muscles serving to start respiration. Since the discovery of the Leyden jar many attempts have been made to establish an electrical medical treatment. Discontinuous currents, particularly those furnished by small induction-coils and magneto-electric machines, are employed by practitioners to stimulate the nerves in paralysis and other affections. Electric currents should not be used at all except with great care, and under the direction of regularly trained surgeons.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> It is not out of place to enter an earnest caution on this head against the numerous quack doctors who deceive the unwary with magnetic and galvanic "appliances." In many cases these much-advertised shams have done incalculable harm; in the very few cases where some fancied good has accrued the curative agent is probably not magnetism, but flannel!
